

Communitas Education Trust

2 August 2020

Dear Parents and Carers,

We hope this letter finds you and your family well and managing to enjoy the beautiful weather.

As promised, we wanted to write to you briefly each week to keep you updated around any changes proposed to opening our schools fully in September.

You will be aware that there is currently a lot of speculation in the press about what might be happening with schools next month. At the moment there have been no official changes to the earlier government announcements regarding schools opening and the trust has no current plans to deviate from this proposal. The plan is still that schools will open to all children at the beginning of the Autumn Term.

You will also be aware that there are a number of national changes regarding Covid-19 concerning local lockdowns and changes to planned reopening of some service sectors and a great deal of discussion about where schools might fit in with government strategy long term.

We will continue to monitor government announcements, local and national advice and the impact of rising infection rates and keep you updated around any further proposal from the trust affecting you, your children, our staff and the opening of schools.

In the meantime, we hope to see you continue to enjoy the summer holidays with your children.

With best wishes,

Paul Marray
